Start the New Year Off Right: Resolve to Raise a Reader!

Many New Year's resolutions focus on developing healthy habits. Here's one that is important to make and keep: provide a regular diet of books and reading for your preschooler. Try this menu of reading activities.

You feed and care for your child every day so that he will grow into a healthy, happy preschooler. Similarly, you also need to provide experiences that will enhance language development and stimulate learning skills. Try this menu of reading activities:

Read every day

A daily reading routine will give all the readers in your family a chance to read with your preschooler. Dads, moms, siblings, caregivers, and friends can all be a part of ensuring your preschooler gets 20 minutes of being read to each day.

Do things, and then talk about it

It's great to offer new experiences to your preschooler, such as a visit to the zoo or museum, but a trip to the grocery store or a neighborhood park can be just as educational. Talk about what you are seeing and ask your preschooler what he thinks of it. When possible, use interesting words to describe what you're seeing.

Read every where you go

You can find reading on the road, at the bus stop, in the store, and at the restaurant. Play a game to find words when you are out and about or take a look at home for words on everyday items like cereal boxes, toothpaste, and household appliances.

Be a reading role model

Your child wants to imitate you and be like you. Have plenty of reading material for yourself as well as for your child. Tell your child how much you enjoy reading.

Keep your pulse on progress

Please be sure to see your child's pediatrician or teacher as soon as possible if you have concerns about your child's language development, hearing, or sight.

Sharks (3-5 Year Old's)

Hello parents!

Happy new year! I hope everyone enjoyed their holidays.

Our students had so much fun with the gingerbread unit and all the beautiful books we read. Once again, we want to apologize for the in-person Christmas concert cancellation. I hope you enjoyed our Facebook live!!!

In the month of January, students will be introduced to our ice vs snow unit. This unit is so much fun, it's filled with science activities. Students will have opportunities to learn about different snowflakes, states of matter and will play with snow. Make sure your child has a pair of gloves in their cubbies for snow play. Do not worry if we cannot come out to the snow, the snow will come to us!!!

Bumblebees (2 Year Old's)

Wow, we can't believe it's January 2023! December was an amazing month because we learned about Clothing, Snowmen, gingerbread houses, and Holidays around the world. We also discussed clothing and what we should wear during the winter season. The highlight of the month was practicing for our winter concert.

With open Arms we welcome this Month of January and this new year. For this month of January, we will be talking about Ice and Snow, Hibernation, migration, and Adaptation.
